Unknown Pleasures EP

We are back baby and we've got our bag filled with new stuff for your ears. Today we present you a fresh face which we picked up in Spain. Our newest artist, Jacobo Hernandez, aka SeQ presents you his very first EP straight for the dancefloor called, 'Unknown Pleasures'. Dark tunes with minimalistic arrangements, thoughtful structures and ass shaking guaranteed!

There are 4 tracks on this EP, the first one being, 'Gaza'. It feels like walking in a hostile environment. A track full of mysterious and interesting sounds. The next track, 'Octubres' starts right where 'Gaza' left off. It puts some more enthusiasm into the rhythmic structures, effectively pushing the track to the next level.

Can you feel the deep sub?! 'Open Road' is more repetitive, but has a nice mood and is great as a DJ tool for mixing. The last track, 'Next Station' is very simplistic and filled with lots of small filtered elements that round up the track and keep the beat rolling. A great start for SeQ and surely not his last EP on our label.

SeQ

Jacobo Hernandez also known as 'SeQ', was born in a small town called Lugo, Spain in 1986. He is a DJ since 2000. For his 22 years, his musical history is quite complex. His main influences are techno, house, dub, trip hop, rock and roll, funk and more.

After going through a series of personal sensations in the underground music scene, he started to adapt different styles to his mixes as well as his own music. Since he was a little boy, he knew different genres like techno, house, electro, etc. and slowly began to test his knowledge on the plates, marking sessions of minimal-tech with style and professionalism.

Since then he is a newcomer in the scene and has performed at several venues in his local area with DJ sets and live acts.
